Monday to Air Appeals Issue

TEL AVIV.—The Knesset will be called in session next Monday at noon to discuss changing the election timetable to allow an additional fortnight to file appeals against non-inclusion of names in the Voters' Register, it was announced on Wednesday by the Knesset Speaker, Mr. Nahum Nir.

The House was asked to be companies to invest 5 per cent of their annual profits in an Arab Development Bank.

The statement also said that oil companies should consult with the governments of exporting countries before changing the price of crude oil.

The week-long conference, the first of its kind, was attended by some 400 representatives from the Arab states. Perais, Venezuela, and the world's major oil companies.

But Iraq, the Middle East's third largest oil producer, refused to attend because of what it called the "hostile attitude" of the U.A.R.

The conference on Thursday approved a statement saying that understanding had been reached on the need for improved participation by petroleum-producing countries in the oil industry on an equitable and reasonable basis with the oil companies.

The statement also said an The statement also said

NEW YORK (Reuter).— Israel will share in grants totalling $2,296,466 given for the first quarter of 1959 by the Rockefeller Foundation, it was announced on Thursday.

A grant of $70,000 was made to the Agricultural Research Station at Rehovot to study the soil moisture balance required for the best plant growth. A team of scientists, headed by Dr. Jacob Rubin, will conduct experiments under both field and greenhouse conditions.

The Government Hospital at Tel Hashomer received a $9.500 grant for the research on a biochemical abnormality in various ethnic groups. Dr. Chaim Sheba will direct this project.

A grant of $5,000 will be used to purchase and ship a collection of basic books on international relations to the Foreign Ministry.

Grants also went to Egypt, Iraq, Lebanon and Turkey.

TERAEL'S fledgling film industry and budding film makers are to have the benefit of the experience of Mr. Morten Parker, one of the word's leading makers of documentary filma, who has accepted a UNESCO appointment to spend a year here as an adviser. a lot less — anyway, if the film is good there are no complaints. The Board's film makers generally select their own subjects and material and once the idea is accepted "are left alone to get on with the business of making a good film." Parker once decided to make a series on why people work, spent menths researching the subject and personally interviewing salesgirls and professionals before even thinking about how to put his ideas together. In preparation for a prizewinning series on trade unions which has since been shown around the world in many languages, Parker spent four months reading up everything he could find on the subject. "When you know your material you can begin to give it shape." Parker sums up documentaries as "a creative interpretation of reality," which is a pretty good definition of art.

Harakabi is proof that the decisions could not have been casy to take. There were two phases of deliberation and decision-making which kept to the prepared and celebrated the first days of the Passover holiday this week. Though the Seder was set for Wednesday night, Israelis were on the move from the beginning of the week. Many started off earlier to their relatives to avoid the last-minute transport queues, while others exploited the fact that the holiday was so close to Saturday to make a nice long week-end of it. The railways, the bus cooperatives, the interruban taxi companies and the inland sirlines added numerous extra runs to their regular schedules, while ships and overseas airlines brought thousands of returning Israelis and visiting tourists from abroad.

Business picked up during the last days before the holi-ord. These qualities do not is ability as a commander and his past operational re-

A FTER three sessions, the Cabinet last week had instructed Premier and Defence Minister David Ben-Gurion to transfer to new positions the two members of the Army's General Staff who had been found responsible for the confusing April 1 call-up. Although it had been predicted that it might take some time for this decision to be implemented, Mr. Ben-Gurion acted with speed and within a week had announced the changes.

But while these internal changes have been taking place within the various enterprises and industries, the country's basic economic pattern has remained almost completely unchanged. Save for a slight decline in commerce and a rise in agriculture, the percentage shifts in this respect are so small (and partly contradictory) that they can almost be disregarded. We have thus to face the fact that in the past three years the country's dynamic development, with all the expansion and technical progress that it involves, has not markedly

The week-long conference, the first of its kind, was attended by some 400 representatives from the Arab states, Persia, Venezuela, and the world's major oil companies.

But Iraq, the Middle East's third largest oil producer, refused to attend because of what it called the "hostile attitude" of the U.A.R.

The conference on Thursday approved a statement saying that understanding had been reached on the need for improved participation by petroleum-producing countries in the oil industry on an equitable and reasonable basis with the oil companies.

EXETER, England (Reuter).

The most easily recognizable prisoner at Dartmoor, ginger-haired heavyweight William Bright, escaped from Britain's toughest jail during Wednesday night and disappeared into the surrounding moorland.

Bright, six-foot-two-inches tall and heavily-built, sawed through the bars of his cell, jumped 20 feet to the ground from his cell blook and climbed the high outer wall with the aid of scaffolding.

The 25-year-old convict was sentenced eight years for burglary.

Rio Drops Plan to Call

Street After U.A.R.
RIO DE JANEIRO (INA).

— Following the protest of the local Lebanese and Syrian communities, the city council on Monday dropped a proposal to hame a street after the United Arab Republic.

After it had recently been decided to name a street in honour of Sholom Aleichem, to mark the centenary of the birth of the Yiddish author, a member of the city council introduced a proposal to name another street "Avenida United Arab Republic."

Brazilian businesamen and community leaders of Syrian and Lebanese origin, however, protested, pointing out that the union of Syria and Egypt was "forced upon Syria by the Egyptian dictator."

HAIFA. — Several thousand buffalo fishlets were hatched at the Dor Experimental Station on Monday. The fish first generation subras of parents brought from Alabama four years ago, have been eagerly awaited by the fish breeders.

They are the first of their kind in Israel and appear to be healthy. Their parent buffaloes spawned last week after four years of acclimatination troubles. News of the birth was greeted with rejoicing among the fish breeders who will grow the new arrivals in their carp ponds: If all goes well they should appear on the market within a lew months.

They were required to pay II.44 for entry visas. They were without money and their luggage had been held in Paris pending information on where they would end up. Air France paid the II.44 for them.

France paid the IL44 for them.

They then sat in the Airport waiting room — it was then 2.15 in the morning — waiting for someone to come and take them back to their former tiny home in Kiryat Yovel, Jerusalem.

Asked why they had bett Israel, Mrs. Cottbetzelt explained that her husband had a heart and eye complaint and had been without work. The elder daughter had not earned enough to keep the family and they had gradually sold their belongings. (Itim)

TWO HURT IN BOILER BLAST

BOILER BLAST
TEL AVIV. — A bathroom was wrecked and the owner of the flat and his wife were slightly hurt when an electric boiler in a flat in 32 Rehov Hayarkon exploded on Thursday afternoon.

The blast rocked the five-storey building just as Mr. Felix Klein, 43 was preparing to take a bath. He had not yet turned on the hot water. Two of the bathroom walls were knocked down, and the kitchen was slightly injured by flying glass splinters. Both received first aid treatment. The blast is believed to have occurred when a faulty thermostat cansed excessive pressure in the boiler, (Itim)

Ein Gev Festival Gets Fine Start

By YOHAMAN BORHM
TIBERIAS. — The annual Passover Music Festival at Ein Ger, on the eastern shore of Lake Rinneret, got off to a fine start on Thursday evening in its new Zeco Music Centre. The hall was dedicated earlier in the day when the U.S. Charre 'Affairea, Mr. William O. Baxter, unveiled a plaque recording with gratitude the contribution made by the Katzen Fund towards its completion.

The 2,500-seat hall was filled to capacity for the evening concert by the fisrael Philharmonic Orchestra conducted by Gary Bertini. Despite the oppressive heat and the musicians' long journey, the Orchestra rose to the occasion, building up to fine cilimans. After the Second Movement of Ben-Haim's First Symphony, the Luboshutz-Nemenoff duo pianists played Bach's Concerto is C Minor and Moment's E Fist Major Concerto.

fans at the Jaffa Hapoel ground. The half-time score was 1:1. Because of injuries to five players, Saprissa appeared with a weakened lineup and made changes during the game. Nevertheless, the visitors were the better team, and their speed, fine ball control and accurate short passing game often spelt danger to the Maccabi goal. Maccabi did not play their best football, and were fortunate to est even.

Saprissa's left back, Alex, a penalty awarded against Resnik for hands. Three minutes later, Inside-Right Geldstein equalized with an 18-metre drive.

Saprissa again took the lead in the 78th minute through Inside-Right Mervin, brought in as a substitute, but two minutes before the end Rezznik levelled the scores with a penalty.

these people see no profound consciousness and organizations of the communists. It is not impossible that the new U.S. Secretary of State may allow himself to be persuaded that Nasser's brand of anti-Communism is better than none, and that he should be cultivated at least a little. Anyone tending to this form of optimism should study his attacks on Iraq, which are concerned as much with Iraq's "enslavement to Western oil imperialism" as its subservience to its own Communist party.

Nasser is concerned with one thing only, and that is the creation of conditions for the establishment of his rule in the Arab countries. As a first state was convened by the corrected as a first s

It must be understood that the elections to the Histadrut donvention do not necessarily determine the composition of the leadership of individual national unions. An outstanding example is the Metal Workers Union, in which Mapam has a strong influence despite its minority status in the Histadrut as a whole.

Practically all elections to Histadrus and the same already reported works of histadrus bears are already reported all many have given to transfer their allegiance, now that they have become with the exception of works committees, for which the voting is on a personal basis. But even on this level the parties frequently make it clear whom they recom-mend among the eandidates.

In 1955 in the elections to the Eighth Histadrut Con-vention, the 509,919 votes were divided as follows:

1968—many of them young demobilized soldiers, represent the greatest unknown factor in the present campaign. The fact that 40,000 of them are new arrivals has also been taken into account by party headquarters, as witness the propaganda material in the main languages represented by the latest immigration waves.

Another unknown factor, which is hardly mentioned is the presence of Herut sympathisers in the Histadrut. As was reported in The Jerusalown Post, Herut headquarters have issued a circular instructing their sympathizers to abstain from voting this time. This is contrary to 1985, when they were advised to insert the ballotting slips of Ahdut Ha'avoda to rhe General Zionist Workers faction. Of course, the picture might have been different had the Herut leaders wucceeded in pushing Mr. E. Shostak, M.K., and his National Federation of Labour into the Histadrut as one of its constituent factions. But DUTTING jazz bands on a Concert platform which usually resounds to the sound of classical and symphonic music has its problems and dangers, but Louis Armstrong easily made contact with his preponderantly youthful audience, which filled the Hall, ready to get excited about anything offered them by the famous trumpet player. There was quite a lot to get excited about; Hot Rags and nostalgic Blues, blaring noise and soft music, all filled with indescribable rhythm and well-planned improvisations.

THE exhibition of PaintIngs and Sculptures by Graduates of Youth Aliya, which opened on Saturday at Jerusalem's Bezalei Museum, was fully reviewed in this column, when first shown at Ein Harod, ag an interesting exhibit by 18 members of the first generation to receive its artistic education in Israel. However, some words about this show as a Youth Aliya exhibition could perhaps be added.
The fact that younger artists who have very much arrived and generally do not care very much for local exhibitions regularly particiBezem, were all "Youth Aliya events, seems to indicate that strong ties of loyalty unite the graduates of this old school, where never a tie was worn. To look for an artistic common denominator in this rather incidental group, ranging from Weintraub's Realism to Komlosh' Tachism, would be rather futile. However, there is an artistic common denominator, if not stylistic then technical. All these young artists, who became painters under the negls of Youth Aliya, obviousby learned how to paint, which means that Youth Aliya has exercised a most beneficial control over the studies of its youngsters.
Moreover, decisive for the

THE surprising thing is not to only the number of visitors but also the kind who propose to come. Up till now people have come here either to see their relatives, or because they were religious, or Zionista or some other kind of idealists with notions. But no such feelings are now necessary. It has become the smart thing to come to funite Lead, Coulomber to its and the sering the words "Welcome to Israel. People who have to comfess they have not yet been are slowly losing face. Everybody who is anybody must be able to speak of when the were in the Negav.

FAMILY and friends in England are sharply divided into two sections of which one is always shaking, its head about the other. One half is rather odd, bursting with energy and full of fantastic schemes for making money or a name. This section has already been to Israel, or if it, has not, has only been prevented by lack of means (the schemes not yet having succeeded). The other parts has the means

Chess Problem No. 1235

There is a 20th century look about all the glamorous pots and pans, pressure cookers and grills, wireless sets, washing machines with and without centrifugal dryers, gas ranges and the latest models of electric refrigerators. "Seventy-five per cent of the products on show here have been put on the market during the past six months," says John Cheyney, an expert from Boston, who is director of the Institute of Design. The glint in his eyes implies that the Institute, a venture supported by the U.S. Operations Mission, has a share in reforming the stolld manufacturing practices of our industry and in apreading the modern approach that qality and appearance go together. "Household goods have gained so much in design lately as a result of competition that they are now ahead of the general level of industry," Mr. Cheney says.

level of industry," Mr. Cheney says.

There are some new household appliances not made here before. To list on made here before. To list on ly a few: glazed earthenware pots and pans that can be put straight on the fire, like pyrex vessels; a fairly flat gas range with a built-in grill, much cheaper than the full-height model; a knitting machine; a kitchen clock; and a baby-monitoring attachment to your radio set. It is a small microphone which is hung up on the wall above baby's crib or bed and reproduces every cough or sob over the radio loud-speaker in another room or even at your neighbour's. Even baby-sitting is becoming mechanized.

The exhibition is by no means complete. Not all the new products have come up to the high standard of design set by the Institute. Whenever a product was turned down, its shortcomings wise explained to the manufacturer. Needless to say, such a rejection does not necessarily reflect on the qualities of a product. However, design is no mere abstract and aesthetic criterion. Mostly it is grounded on the

From here Dr. Foerder proceeded to demand that a greater percentage of credit be granted at the banks' own discretion. Apparently, however, matters are not so gimple as all that, for Dr. Foerder also found it necessary to warn in another context against the fact that the banks have to pay excessive interest in order to attract deposits, and proposed joint action for fixing this interest interest in order to attract de-posits, and proposed joint action for fixing this interest rate. Moreover, our stringent bank controls should long since have put an end to the continuing financing of con-sumers' spending, which, how-ever, is not the case.

The fact is that the present system of credit control is in need of overhaul in many respects, and the increased confidence now prevailing between the authorities and the banking institutions should be applied to or in Israel—has long been advocated as a precondition for a sound and steady stock exchange, for there is evidently no other way of creating the broad investor element that is essential for cushioning occasional slumps, and the advantage derived from limiting the funds to the purchase of new issues only is doubtless offset by the damaging effects of market rigidity and nervousness. Similarly there can be no palpable resurgence of the shares market so long as debentures alone are eligible for tax concessions. No less obvious is the need to improve investment facilities for short-term savings and commercial liquid funds, both in order to train firms to proper fluidity consciousness and to provide means for overcoming cash shortages (in particular in the public sector) without resorting to Bank of Israel eredits. On all these points reform is long overdue and celude be undertaken without much factional strife.

Ironically, this glut has come just one year too late — for last season, when deliveries to industry were cut to a mere 25,000 tons, Israel canners proved unable to live up to their commitments, and as a result this season British buyers declined to place orders for Israel citrus concentrates unless contracts for fixed quantities of fruit were signed by the factories concerned. The subsequent negotiations of the growers with the CMB on the other hand, it is to be noted that sales of citrus for the Israel table have decreased by about 15 per cent, price quoted and to the current abundance of vegetables and other fruit. When the entire crop has been harvested and shipped, and all the relevant sales figures are available, a reappraisal of many facts and factors will evidently be required, as the citrus growers with have to adjust the meaning age.
